

Dr. M. Aruna, holds M.Sc. Degree in Home Science from S.V.University, Tirupati, AP, India and PhD Degree in Food Science and Nutrition from Acharya Ranga Agricultural

University, Hyderabad. She also worked as a Research Assistant for one of the National Projects at National Institute of Nutrition (NIN), Hyderabad. She has been teaching Food Science in the department of Home Science, Sri Padmavati Mahila Visvavidyalayam (Women's University), Tirupati for 19 years. She is a member of SASNET (Sweedish South Asian Network on Fermented Foods), Sweeden. She has organized UGC Refresher Course and also an International Conference. She has presented scholarly papers in various seminars and published research papers in several reputed journals. She is involved in the research of nutrition and Health specially diabetes, hypertension, Obesity. She has successfully completed a Major Research Project funded by DBT, New Delhi. Presently she is a Professor & Head, Department of Home Science, Sri Padmavati Mahila Visvavidyalayam (Women's University), Tirupati, Andhra Pradesh, India.